

Laudato Sí Action Plan July 2025 to June 2026

The Sisters of St. Francis, Clinton, Iowa, Sojourners, and Associates have committed to a mission of living and promoting active nonviolence and peacemaking. We are inspired by the words of the Catholic Nonviolence Initiative (CNI) which points out that the theology and practice of nonviolence offer a foundation for the long-term work of building the future envisioned in Laudato Si'.

Nonviolence combines unconditional love in action with a constant effort to oppose violence. It is a spirituality, a way of life, a strategy for bringing about social change, a method for protecting the vulnerable, and a universal ethic.

Nonviolence recognizes that all of Creation is interdependent: what affects one, affects us all. It is a force for good that can propel the crucial, historic shift to a world where our common home, and all who dwell in it, are honored and protected.

In furtherance of our mission and commitment to active nonviolence, we will continually be guided by, and advocate for, nonviolence in all efforts to protect and heal the earth and all of Creation in our journey to a Laudato Si' future.
